Aufhebung Voralarm – Erdbeben Indonesien

Salzburg, 28.05.06 – In the early morning hours the officer-in-charge of the International Rescue Dog Organisation (IRO) decided to cancel the stand-by of the multinational IRO contingent. The decision was based on information of local Indonesian authorities which said that the deployment of international rescue dog teams in the region is not necessary.

IRO coordinates rescue dog teams from 29 nations

The International Rescue dog Organisation (IRO) was founded on May 18th 1993 in Sweden. IRO is the worldwide umbrella association of associations and organisations that are engaged with rescue dog work.

At the moment IRO counts 65 member organisations in 29 countries on 4 continents. All rescue dog teams that participate in international missions on behalf of IRO completed a 3 day simulation of a disaster mission. Through this measure IRO can guarantee that only the best teams will be sent to disaster areas. IRO rescue dogs participate in all big earthquake missions in the last couple of years. For example in August 1999 in Turkey, September 1999 in Taiwan, February 2001 in India, May 2003 in Algeria and December 2003 in the I.R. of Iran.
